LEATHER

Full-grain bovine leather available in a number of colors. Our upholstery uses only the highest quality real full-grain leather, known for its outstanding softness, natural pliability and plumpness. Strictly tanned in Italy, using precise, time-tested methods, the leather is first buffed, similar to sanding, to smooth the surface and prepare it for dyeing. Then the leather is aniline-dyed, using a "through-dyeing" process that allows the color to be thoroughly absorbed by the leather, even into its deepest layers. This is definitely not a surface dye that would reveal the underlying color of the natural leather at the slightest scratch. Any lack of uniformity in the surface color is characteristic of natural leather and therefore becomes an aesthetic enhancement for those who appreciate its value. Included in the range of Flexform leathers are different textures, shades and colors that are well-suited to the contemporary design of its products.

LEATHER

Chromium tanned bovine leather available in a number of colors. Our upholstery uses only real full-grain leather of the highest quality, known for its outstanding softness, natural pliability and plumpness. Strictly tanned in Italy, using careful, time-tested methods, is buffed on one side, a process similar to sanding, to smooth the surface in preparation for dyeing. Then the leather is aniline-dyed, using a "through-dyeing" process that allows the color to be thoroughly absorbed by the leather, even into its deepest layers. This is definitely not a surface dye that would reveal the underlying color of the natural leather at the slightest scratch. Any lack of uniformity in the surface is characteristic of natural leather and therefore becomes an aesthetic enhancement for those who appreciate its value. Nubuck, instead, is a full-grain leather that, during the buffing process takes on a chamois effect that is velvety to the touch and has a lustrous appearance. This is a rather delicate type of leather. Also used in many products is cowhide. Because this leather is approx. 3 to 4 mm thick and therefore has more body, it is suited to upholstering surfaces with rigid or metal structures. Included in the range of Flexform leathers are different textures, shades and colors that are well-suited to the contemporary design of its products.
